Alabama Tornado Kills 4

Hartselle Is Badly Damaged; Estimate Is Set at $750,000; Rebuilding Begins

HARTSELLE, Ala. (AP)—"A giant whirlwind with red dust," the third tornado to hit this community in 23 years, left four dead yesterday, up to 25 hurt and damages that may exceed $750,000.

The dead included a small brother and sister and a 60-year-old couple.

Homeless residents of this battered north Alabama farming section met soon after the storm to begin plans for rebuilding their shattered homesteads.

A Red Cross official said 20 to 25 persons were injured. Fifteen persons were taken to hospitals at Hartselle and Cullman. Highway patrol and civil defense officials said 40 houses were destroyed, 30 more damaged and 2 churches blown away.

Damage to buildings alone was placed at near $750,000. When the loss to livestock, crops and utilities is totaled, that figure may go many thousands of dollars higher.

The tornado ripped along a 20-mile area from near Piney Grove to just south of Hartselle, leaving a swath of devastation one quarter to one half a mile wide. The section is about 75 miles north of Birmingham.

Similar spring storms struck the same area in 1932 and 1952. The 1932 total was 31 dead and 81 injured, and that in 1952 four dead and 60 hurt.

Ronnie Lee Nails, 3, of near Massey, died of storm injuries in a Hartselle hospital last night. His sister, Ida Marie, 10, was killed outright. Their mother Mrs. Clyde Nails and three other Nails children were among the injured.

The other dead were Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith, both about 60. The storm raged through a cluster of communities around Massey west of here, but missed Massey itself. Residents there met last night to organize the entire community as a labor force to help their farm neighbors rebuild.

National Guard troops remained on duty through the night to help survivors and keep roads open. Price Hogan described the tornado as "like a giant whirlwind with red dirt and stuff flying around."

Cedar Plains was wiped out when its three houses, their outbuildings and a church were destroyed.

Young Democrats Hold Jeff City Convention For State Members

Missouri's Young Democrats will hold their annual convention in Jefferson City, Mo. 12-14, it was announced today by State President James L. Paul of Pineville. Highlights of the convention, which begins with the opening of registration at 1 p. m., Thursday, will include appearances of top state and national officials, business sessions, with interludes of entertainment, will be held Friday and Saturday with election of state officers scheduled on Saturday afternoon. Climax of the three day meeting will be a banquet Saturday night to be held in the Governor hotel, which also will serve as headquarters for the convention.

Pet Dog Is a Hero; Rouses Family In Fire

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP)—Their pet dog is a hero to Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Bugg of Piedmont. The small animal came in their bedroom late last night and "barked like mad," waking Bugg and his wife. They soon discovered why.

The attic of their home was on fire. Firemen answered their alarm and only the roof was damaged.

Hasty Change

People who had stored away that extra blanket for the summer found it necessary to get up in the night and postpone the storage for awhile.

Fair tonight and Tuesday. Warmer Tuesday. Low tonight near 50 and high Tuesday near 80.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 42; 66 at 1 p. m., and 67 at 2 p. m. Rainfall over weekend, .38 inch.

The temperature one year ago today, high 85, low 62; two years ago, high 65, low 47; and three years ago, high 69, low 38.

Stage at Lake of the Ozarks 50.7, steady.

Final Preparation-- Jaycees Home Show Opening Three Day Exhibit Tuesday

Tuesday starts the Second Annual Home Show, sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce continuing through Wednesday and Thursday. The show will be held from 2:30 p. m. to 11:30 p. m. at Convention Hall, Liberty Park. The theme of the show is "The Newest and Best for Your Home" and every exhibitor will be on the job trying to prove that he has just that.

There was music at the Convention Hall Sunday, the music of hammers and saws, and Monday the town was full of Jaycees who were so sore and stiff they could hardly move about. The booths looked a little puny with just a framework of wood but by Tuesday afternoon every one of them will be ablaze with color.

LaMonte Man Fatally Hurt During Chase

Phillip Healy Dies In Medical Clinic At Warrensburg

Phillip Vincent Healy, 58, died at 11:20 p. m. Sunday at the Warrensburg Medical Center from injuries suffered in an automobile accident two miles north of Highway 50 on the Pettis-Johnson Co. line road. The accident occurred about 7:45 p. m. while being chased by Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle of the Missouri State Highway patrol.

The man had severe head and facial lacerations, one laceration on the forehead and so severe that he was nearly scalped. It was necessary for the doctors to take approximately 150 stitches to close all of the lacerations and cuts. He also suffered the fracture of several ribs, chest injury, abrasions, cuts on his legs and was believed to have had internal injuries and was in severe shock.

Sgt. Van Winkle reported he was headed east on Highway 50 a short distance west of the county line road when he noticed a car in back of him leave the pavement two or three times, cut back onto the concrete and cross the center line. Van Winkle said he pulled in on the south turn off of the county road to let the car pass, but instead the car swerved and headed north on the gravel road. The road is also known as Johnson County Highway FF.

Van Winkle then started after the car and, getting close behind Healy, turned on his red light and blew the siren on the patrol car. Instead of stopping, Van Winkle said, the driver began to speed up. Because of the heavy dust stirred up by the speeding car, Van Winkle reported he dropped back and said he was going to follow him until he could get a better chance to close in.

The Healy car, according to Van Winkle, nearly went out of control as it crossed the Missouri-Pacific railroad tracks. On down the road the two cars went and dropped over a rise in the road. Healy's car was some distance ahead of the patrol car when the accident occurred. Sgt. Van Winkle didn't see the car when it left the highway.

Sgt. Van Winkle reported the car pulled to the left on the shoulder and then went down a 10-foot embankment and rolled over in a small creek. The car missed the abutment of the concrete culvert bridge. As he came upon the scene, Van Winkle said, he saw the car over in the creek bed which had about two feet of water in it. With Healy trapped in the car unconscious.

He reported he was unable to get the car door open, so he returned to the patrol car and radioed to Troop A, Lee's Summit, to have Johnson County authorities notified and to send an ambulance from Warrensburg. He then returned to the car and tried again, but it was not until the ambulance driver and his assistant from the Braunerger's Funeral Home and Sheriff Alex Nichols of Warrensburg arrived and gave their help that they were able to free the man from the car.

The Healy car, a 1951 Ford sedan, was demolished. Sheriff Alex Nichols said today Dr. Kelly Rawlin, Johnson County coroner, said an inquest was not necessary.

Healy is survived by his widow, Nell B. Healy, of the family home, which is a farm west of LaMonte on the county line road, and a daughter. He is also survived by a brother, Clarence Healy, Kansas City, and a sister.

Healy and his wife purchased the farm about a year ago and moved from Kansas City to reside there. He had been employed part time in Warrensburg at the Bill Florence barber shop.

The body was taken to the Braunerger Funeral Home and late Monday taken to the Melody-McGilley-Eyer Funeral Home in Kansas City where funeral services will be held.

Burial will be in the National Cemetery, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Sanitation Trucks Starting Pick-ups For Clean-up Week

Sanitation department trucks will start a special Clean-Up week pick-up service Tuesday in the southwest quarter of Sedalia from a point south of Broadway and west of Ohio to the south and western city limits.

Citizens are requested to have refuse in some type of substantial container at their regular pick-up location, in the alleys or at the front curb where locations are not possible.

Strong Winds Damage Three Nearby Areas

Clarksburg, Fortuna And Tipton Hit; Barns, Crops Hurt

Strong winds, rain and hail some of which was one-half inch in diameter swept down on the Tipton, Clarksburg and Fortuna vicinities Saturday afternoon causing a great amount of damage to homes, barns, growing crops and various vegetation.

One of the worst hit was Major Rowles, owner of four farms in the area, and of these the one occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Turpin suffered probably the heaviest damage.

A corner of a barn was blown off and the roof partially collapsed. This was at about 2:50 p. m. Mrs. Turpin said later she had to go out to milk cows after the blast had practically subsided. In addition to the barn damage a large shed but ten years old was demolished.

At Jim Dearing's, three miles east of Tipton, hail shattered windows on the south side of the home and piled up 1 1/2 feet deep at doorways. It also damaged interior woodwork.

Although it lasted but a few minutes, crops and buildings suffered heavily over the area. The storm swept from near Fortuna at Otto Dubert's eastward with a strip about a mile wide and moved northeastward to the farm of Herman Knipp, about five miles northeast of Tipton. Wind and hail hit hard along Highway 50, ripping half a barn roof from a barn owned by L. W. Billingsley, and across the road knocked out 14 windows, wrecked hog houses, a scale house and devastated 80 acres of wheat and barley on the place owned by O. N. Roth.

Everywhere in the area gardens and fields were cleaned bare of vegetation just as if a swarm of locusts had descended on the region.

Describing the storm, Jim Dearing said, "Just imagine lying on a railroad track and letting a fast train go over you."

While the wind swept furiously on, it did some strange things. The only fatality was a chicken killed that was caught under a falling barn door at the Turpin place. A machinery shed on that place had a window pane blown out but it did not shatter.

At the Roath place, wallpaper was swept from a hallway and on up a stairway.

Two large trees at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Hunt, Clarksburg, were uprooted, one falling onto their house. One of its branches penetrated the roof.

The hail covered the ground at many places and did not melt until Sunday morning.

Cecil Tomlinson, driving in his car back from a field where he had been plowing, had his automobile swung around from proceeding south to north. Mrs. Roth said, "A funny part of it was all this time I could see a farmer down the road plowing in a field. Major Rowles estimated his loss at $15,000, which included about $600 in wheat and barley.

Small Bills Get Pushed Aside--

Legislature Rushes to Complete Its Business by End of Session

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Harvest time is coming on apace in the Missouri Legislature.

For weeks the legislators have been planting ideas and cultivating support.

Even so many of the bills are suffering from inattention as the lawmakers try to get in the best of the crop. The puny plants will get trampled or ignored.

The two houses came back to work today (2 p. m.) with plenty of big plants to consume all of the available harvest time. Under the constitution, the job must all be done by midnight May 31, just a shade over five weeks away.

In the Senate, House-passed appropriation bills apparently will consume all of the available harvest time. Under the constitution, the job must all be done by midnight May 31, just a shade over five weeks away.

In the Senate, House-passed appropriation bills apparently will consume most of the week and perhaps next week, too.

As is usual, Senate changes probably will require that all but the least important money measures return to the House. Probably the bulk of those will have to go through the chaffing mill of House-Senate conference committees to eliminate differences.

The House, meanwhile, may take up again the problem of unemployment compensation benefits. Weeks ago the House passed a bill setting those benefits at 75¢ for 30 weeks, instead of the present $25 for 24 weeks.

But the Senate called that too

Eastern Parley Closes

Series of Resolutions Designed to Foster Peace Approved; One Chiller by Chou

BANDUNG, Indonesia (AP)—Delegates to the Asian-African conference headed home today. The 29-nation parley came to a harmonious close yesterday with a series of unanimous resolutions designed to foster peace among the world's diverse peoples.

Red China's Chou En-lai sounded one jarring note at the windup. After stealing the show Saturday with his call for direct talks with the United States on the thorny Formosa issue, the Communist Premier declared that Peiping would not yield its "sovereign right in the liberation" of Chiang Kai-shek's island bastion.

The seven-day conference was marked by frequent clashes between pro and anti-Communist elements. But it reached last-minute agreement on the major issue that nearly caused a stalemate—the touchy colonial question.

After hours of deliberation a subcommittee finally came up with an acceptable resolution condemning colonialism "in all its manifestations." It carefully avoided specifying either Western or Communist colonialism.

Both sides in the cold war seemed to have profited during the parley.

There was little or none of the bitter condemnation the West had expected from the formerly subject peoples. Anti-Communist spokesmen captured the initiative at the outset of the conference with telling blasts against Red imperialism. Western observers were particularly impressed with the anti-Communist stand of Ceylon's Premier Sir John Kotelawala, one of the five conference hosts.

On the Communist side, Chou devoted himself mainly to winning friends. He attracted considerable favorable attention by refusing to pursue the arguments with his anti-Communist critics. The strategic Indochinese kingdoms of Cambodia and Laos both espoused Indian Prime Minister Nehru's neutralist policy, which Chou favors for the rest of Asia. And the Chinese Premier's gesture on the Formosa issue was applauded generally, although some delegates were skeptical that anything concrete would result.

The resolutions drawn up at the parley covered a wide field, ranging from demands for a ban on manufacture and testing of nuclear weapons to cultural cooperation among Asian and African peoples.

Nearly All Claim Victory In French Vote

PARIS (AP)—Nearly everyone claimed victory today in French local elections, but Communists and Socialists appeared to have the best right to crow.

Interior Minister Maurice Bourges-Maunoury confirmed there had been a slight drift to the left all along the line.

The Communist organ l'Humanite headlined today: "The Communist party gains six seats over 1949, and thousands of votes compared with the first round." The first round of the election for country councilmen was held April 17. It gave the Communists 21 per cent of the vote. Yesterday's poll gave them 22.5 per cent.

The councilmen have few powers or duties, but considerable political prestige.

One reason for the Communist gain was that local Socialist organizations defied party headquarters and made local pacts with the Communists.

Concludes Twentieth Season--

Pauline Deniston Sings Here With Symphony Second Time

A tribute was paid the Symphony in Monday's Kansas City times by Clyde B. Neibarger, music editor, for the orchestra's 20th year of activity. The article was accompanied by pictures of the orchestra and of Abe Rosenthal, conductor.

Concluding its 20th season and its 80th continuous performance without interruption, the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra, under its conductor, Abe Rosenthal, will present a concert at the Smith-Cotton Auditorium at 8:15 p. m. on April 26.

The concert was originally scheduled for April 25, but due to a meeting of the Knife and Fork Club and other conflicting functions on that date, the symphony elected to postpone their fourth concert of the year until April 26.

Appearing with the symphony as guest artist will be Pauline Deniston, popular young soprano from Kansas City, who is well known through the mid-west for her stirring interpretations of popular, classical, and musical comedy arrangements. Miss Deniston is being brought back to Sedalia by popular demand, it being noted she was a guest artist with the symphony in 1953.

According to members of the symphony, a diversified program has been arranged for their concert next Tuesday, ranging from the intricate works of Mozart to the current and popular Richard Rodgers' "The King and I". Miss Deniston will also have variety in her program, presenting the more serious works of Puccini, as well

Benson Arranges Immediate Tour Of 'Dust Bowl'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson arranged to leave today for a tour of the "dust bowl" area of the Great Plains.

He hopes to shape a program to combat destructive wind erosion there.

His three-day tour, to be made military transport plane and car, will take him through parts of Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and New Mexico. In these states more than 10 million acres of land have been severely damaged by wind storms in the winter and spring. He plans to return here Thursday night.

In announcing his inspection tour, Benson said his department is preparing to make recommendations to "treat the causes of the problem, not the effect."

There is fairly general agreement among agricultural experts that the periodic dust storms that sweep across the plains can be laid mainly to drought, misuse and abuse of land.

There is little that can be done about the weather. Farmers may get rain when they need it and they may get only high or hot winds instead.

But it is possible, experts say, to do something about the misuse and abuse of land. Some land is planted to crops that should not be cultivated. Instead, it should be kept in permanent vegetative growths, particularly grass.

Violence Growing In Strike

Bridge Is Burned And Cables Are Cut As 'Phone, Train Strikes Hit 43rd Day

ATLANTA (AP)—A new wave of cable cuttings and the knocking out of a railroad bridge by fire were reported as regional telephone and railroad strikes entered their 43rd day today.

The violence climaxed a week-end marked by mob rowdiness in Florida, derailment of a freight train in Kentucky and the failure of three governors to settle the phone strike at an Atlanta conference.

Two homemade bombs blasted the Gretna, La., telephone exchange last night but no injuries were reported and officials said equipment apparently was undamaged. A hole was blown in the concrete roof of the building. Police said one bomb apparently exploded before it hit the roof, the other on contact.

The slashing of cables in Mobile and Montgomery temporarily disrupted service to thousands of Southern Bell Telephone Co. customers in Alabama. One Montgomery radio station was off the air several hours.

A 104-foot section of a Louisville & Nashville Railroad bridge six miles east of Calera, Ala., was so badly damaged by fire it will have to be rebuilt. F. W. Kirchner, L&N division superintendent, estimated damage at $150,000 and said he believed the blaze was of incendiary origin.

Kentucky state police said 25 sticks of dynamite were found attached to an L&N bridge at Wasioto, near Pineville, Ky. Trooper Robert Rose said the dynamite was in a paper shopping bag and was rigged so it could be exploded electrically.

At Washington, L&N company and union representatives met four hours with the National Mediation Board but no change in the situation was reported.

Gov. Lawrence Wetherby of Kentucky asked the 13 governors of the states affected by the L&N walkout to meet in Nashville Tuesday with company and union representatives in a new effort to reach agreement.

Seven men were arrested on disorderly conduct charges at Miami, Fla., when 40 policemen and firemen broke up a noisy crowd of about 500 outside the main telephone exchange. Hoses were turned on the crowd and union leaders protested the action as unnecessary.

Six crewmen were injured in the derailment of an L&N freight train five miles south of Barbourville, Ky. Four diesel engines and 27 cars went off the rails. A company spokesman termed the incident sabotage.

Govs. Marvin Griffin of Georgia, Hugh White of Mississippi and James Folsom of Alabama, made an unsuccessful attempt in Atlanta to settle the strike of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) against Southern Bell.

AFL nonoperating unions are on strike against the L&N for a medical care insurance plan to be paid on a 50-50 basis by the company and the employees. Operating unions—men who actually run the trains—are refusing to cross picket lines of nonoperating unions.

Southern Bell workers are out in a contract dispute.

Selection of Jury Starts for Stidham Prison Riot Murder

POPLAR BLUFF (AP)—Selection of a jury began today in the trial of James W. Stidham, 24-year-old ex-convict charged with the murder of Walter Lee Donnell during the State Penitentiary riot at Jefferson City last Sept. 22.

James T. Riley, prosecuting attorney of Cole County, described Stidham as the leader of a murder plot against Donnell and announced in Circuit Court he would seek the death penalty for Stidham, who has obtained a change of venue from Cole County.

Defense Attorney Mark Hennelly of St. Louis said 21 convicts from the State Penitentiary have been subpoenaed as witnesses.

The convicts are scheduled to arrive here tonight in a prison truck under heavy guard.

OBITUARIES

Charley Griffin

Charley Griffin, 77, died unexpectedly about 8:25 a.m. Monday at 16th and Quincy. He died from a heart attack.

Mr. Griffin, who resided at 1506 South Quincy, apparently was on his way to the Foster Grocery, 16th and Grand, when he suffered an attack as he started to step up the curb on the northeast corner of 16th and Quincy and fell to the sidewalk.

He was found by John Atkinson, 709 East 13th, who was passing by on a tractor. Atkinson stopped and went to the man. He reported Mr. Griffin gasp several times and died within seconds. The Gillespie ambulance was summoned and after Dr. C. Gordon Stauffer, coroner, viewed the body and it was taken to the funeral home.

Employees at the grocery stated it was a habit of Mr. Griffin to go to the store every morning, arriving there either a few minutes before the store was open or a few minutes after. They said they noticed his absence and Lester "Junior" Rosehan, 1620 Brown, an employee, decided to walk down to the Griffin's home to see if anything might be wrong and arrived a few minutes after the body had been discovered on the sidewalk.

Mr. Griffin, according to his brother M. N. Griffin, 1811 South Quincy, had suffered a heart illness several years ago but apparently had not complained recently.

He was born at Gas City, Indiana, Dec. 13, 1877, the son of the late S. M. and Jane Griffin. When a boy of about 11, he moved with his parents to Oklahoma, residing near Guthrie. Later the family moved to Missouri, residing on a farm north of Sedalia and near Hughesville. After a number of years they moved back to Oklahoma near Pryor. Later they returned to Missouri and resided in Sedalia, the home being at 1608 South Park.

After the death of his mother he moved to a farm in Morgan County where he resided for several years with a brother, and after his brother's death came to Sedalia to make his home at the present address.

Surviving him are: his brother, M. N. Griffin, 1812 South Quincy; three nieces, Mrs. Merle Vaughan, 1615 West 14th, Mrs. Orla F. Richardson, Route 2, Sedalia, and Mrs. Charles Koby, Butler; and a nephew, Martin Griffin, Jr., Belleflower, Calif.

Two brothers and a sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Gillespie Funeral Home, the Rev. J. W. Watts to officiate.

Russell Maag will sing "The Lord's Prayer" and "In the Sweet Bye and Bye," with Miss Lillian Fox at the organ.

Palbearers will be A. B. Hall, E. P. Hixson, J. H. Amos, Lester Rosenhan, Jr., Harry Rogers and Lester Whiteman.

Burial will be in High Point Cemetery near Hughesville.

Mrs. Anna Julia Weedon

Mrs. Anna Julia Weedon, 82, 1518 South Ohio, died at her home at 11:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Weedon was born at Ship-

Pleasant Grove Lodge, No. 142, A. F. & A. M., Ottumwa, Mo., will meet in stated communication Wednesday evening at 8 p. m. Work in F. C. degree. Visiting brethren welcome.

Attendance Up For Symphony This Season

Attendance figures of the Sedalia Symphony orchestra show an increase over the 1954 season, according to a report at the Symphony board meeting held at the Sedalia Public Library Friday night.

Pauline Deniston, as guest artist, will close the Symphony's 20th season Tuesday night. Because of the anticipated outstanding performance there have been requests for many additional tickets, according to the board members.

Harry W. Walch, president, conducted the board meeting with the following present: Mrs. Duane Ewing, Mrs. Edwin F. Yancey, Mrs. D. R. Edwards, William Schien, Ralph Carrel, Carl Schraeder and Arthur Morgan. Morgan was appointed to fill the office of treasurer to succeed Charles Hanna, resigned.

The board has been offered some talented guest artists for the 1955-56 season and these will be considered at the next meeting in May.

Decision was made to have the annual banquet for the Sedalia Symphony members Thursday, April 5.

Aren't the medical and pharmaceutical professions overlooking a potential source of material in the manufacture of medicine from what comes after fish are caught — innards from the cleaning job?

The sons-in-law returning from a successful outing at the Lake of the Ozarks usually display their catch and trek to the basement to clean the fish. Before the disposal routine is completed there remains that lingering fish smell.

Considering the magnitude of the fishing business there seems to be a lot of wastage in the effort put forth to obtain filets. For instance there ought to be something valuable about those fish insides when one considers what the meat packers salvage from an animal carcass.

"Nothing Is Lost But The Grunt," is the title of an article in the Bulletin for Medical Research. It deals with the dependence of the medical and pharmaceutical professions on the cooperation of meat packers in carefully saving and processing glands and other organs which are used in the manufacture of medicines.

Just think what the amateur fishermen could do to supplement what the commercial fisheries do in providing the same medical service to humanity — just processing fish insides.

In the case of the meat packers this salvage job has been going on for about 70 years. Back in the 80's the first medical item was salvaged from an animal carcass. It was hog stomach which was used as a source of pepsin, then a popular stomachic.

Today the list is a long one. Bone marrow finds a use in treating various blood diseases. Fibrin foam from beef blood controls bleeding doing surgery. Sheep gut is the commonest medical suture. Beef and hog liver extracts are employed in cases of pernicious anemia. Beef and pork pancreas are the sole source of therapeutic insulin. ACTH from hogs is widely used in the treatment of arthritis and asthma. Actually, according to the Medical Research, every animal organ or gland has its medical by-product, many of which are still in the experimental stage.

Some packers ship the glands and organs to the pharmaceutical houses. Some maintain their own production plants for the manufacture of proven products for the medical market. Some have set up full-scale experimental laboratories.

Whatever the case, nothing is lost but the grunt!

In the case of the fish caught by the sons-in-law, let's hope some day nothing is lost but the smell!

No More Post Office Scratching Pens?

Good news for those who depend on the scratchy pens and dried up ink in the local post office to address their letters and packages. The Post Office Department hopes to install ball point pens, with chains attached, we hope, providing they stand up to the job. Already 20,000 ball point pens have been purchased for trial. "Whether they become standard," says Assistant Postmaster General Abrams, "depends on their ruggedness — and how many are stolen."

Warning — unless the public wishes to scratch, get ink on their fingers, or no ink at all, they had better not steal the ball point pens — and the ball point pen manufacturers had better make them rugged and put them in chains.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round— Dr. Jonas Salk Wants No Personal Reward

WASHINGTON — A lot of people have been writing me suggesting a reward to Dr. Jonas Salk — a big cash gift to the man who found the way to stop that dread baby-killer, polio. Some readers even sent checks for me to forward to Dr. Salk.

So the other day I called him up. I had never met Dr. Salk, though I knew his background. He's a man who might not have been able to discover the vaccine for polio had the McCarran-Walter immigration act then been on the books. His folks were Jewish immigrants, his father a garment worker living in New York's teeming mid-Manhattan. He graduated from the City College of New York which Joe McCarthy branded a breeder of Communism.

I found Dr. Salk, as I suspected, a humble man. He was not interested in money for himself, nor publicity. Like another great discoverer of his faith who died the other day, Albert Einstein, he shunned interviews.

But he was interested and concerned that the children who now have a chance to get the protection of his vaccine should all definitely get it. And the tragedy is that under present circumstances, all of them won't.

This is partly because there is not yet full vaccine production — though there will be soon. It's also because the March of Dimes — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis — which has done such a stupendous job of battling polio thru the years didn't reach its goal this year. On the eve of a great triumph, the contributing public fell short.

Dr. Salk indicated that if anyone deserved reward for the long years of battling polio, it was Basil O'Connor, head of the polio foundation, and the thousands of tireless workers who have so patiently raised money to help his research and the children already stricken with polio.

It's partly also because the department of health, education and welfare in Washington — Mrs. Hobby's department — was slow in acting to guarantee a fair distribution of the serum. More on this later. Basically, however, the problem is money.

Salk's Greatest Reward
Real fact is that the National Polio Foundation, which is supplying the vaccine for all children in the first and second grades, will need around $11,000,000 to pay for this vaccine. Its credit is excellent and it is courageously going ahead. But all of that money is not yet raised.

Furthermore, even this generous contribution to the inoculation of the nation's children will cover only the first and second grades, plus the children who participated in the field trials last year and who will get a booster shot.

This leaves out the kindergarten group, one of the most dangerous ages. And it leaves out the third and fourth grades, also dangerous.

Actually the most dangerous polio ages are from birth to nine years, though the danger continues right up to 20. Franklin Roosevelt, the man who inspired the polio foundation, was stricken at the age of 39.

To inoculate the 60,000,000 children between birth and the age of 20, which eventually should be done, would require $120,000,000. Yet the polio foundation will have a hard time finding the money for the first and second grades; which still omits the kindergarten ages, pre-school ages and higher primary grade children just as we enter the dread polio season.

So I would like to suggest to those who want to reward Dr. Salk that his greatest reward would be to see the widest possible use of his serum this spring and summer. And that if the patriotic service clubs and organizations of the U. S. — Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Junior Chambers of Commerce, Labor Unions, Farm Groups — would pitch in and help the 3,100 March of Dimes chapters, it might be possible not only to make up the polio foundation's deficit, but also provide enough money to protect the kids who aren't old enough to go to school and the children of the third and fourth grades.

I don't claim to be able to spell out just how this money should be raised, but I do know that when the American people want to go to town, there's nothing that can stop them.

Mrs. Hobby Delayed
Down in the children's bureau of health, education and welfare department, Dr. Martha Eliot, chief of the bureau, tried a long time ago to get her boss, Mrs. Hobby, to prepare for the equitable distribution of Salk polio serum.

Medical experts knew well in advance that the vaccine was going to be successful, that there would be a tremendous demand for it this spring and that poorer children whose parents can't afford $15 a shot for both the serum and doctor's fees, would be out of luck.

Furthermore, they knew that polio strikes hardest in poorer neighborhoods where living conditions are crowded and sanitation standards low.

So Dr. Eliot, chief of the children's bureau, called a meeting of other affected officials. She outlined the problem, urged that a stand-by plan be prepared by which the government would set aside a certain amount of serum for underprivileged children, also would regulate the use of serum. Dr. Leonard Scheele, alert head of the public health service, agreed with her.

They knew that, the greater amount of serum going into commercial channels, the greater the profit to the medical profession. And while the vast majority of doctors don't want to profit from polio, there are always a certain amount of bootleggers and profiteers.

They also knew that in a catch-as-catch-can system of distribution, the older children who have money but less need would get the vaccine, while the younger children with no money but greater need would get none.

Mrs. Eliot and Dr. Scheele tried to prevent such inequality. But their chief, Mrs. Hobby, procrastinated. She saw no need for government regulation.

Finally, weeks later and only after the April 12 announcement, did she recommend that Eisenhower call a conference April 22 to insure a fair distribution.

NOTE — Senator Morse of Oregon has introduced a bill to insure a fair distribution by which children from five to 12 and pregnant women would come first; children under five would come next; children over 12 next; and adults last.

As Sedalia Sees It— Women Begin to Be Bothered About Cut In Home Research

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Democrat-Capitol
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Women are just beginning to be bothered that the research in home economics over at the Department of Agriculture is to be drastically cut.

The researchers in this department have been responsible for many innovations for which the homemaker is grateful. There's the snowsuit to keep the child warm "all over." The sunsuit. The promotion to make children, and adults too, wear colored or white shirts the better to be seen on the highways by auto drivers.

Michigan Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D-Detroit) touched off the protest in testifying before the Senate Appropriations subcommittee. Other representatives of "home" organizations also testified, including the American Home Economic Association.

She made these observations: The cutback will deprive home demonstration agents, professional home economists, vocational agricultural teachers and homemakers of basic materials with which to act. It would eliminate all basic research in the field of home economics relating to operating characteristics and performance standards for commercially produced equipment and appliances. And it would cause immediate discontinuance of the preparation of technical and popular bulletins which normally flow from this research.

Actually it is said the amount of savings on the Department budget is not nil. The Department allotted $1,426,000 to home economics and food research this year. Under the new policy only $196,000 will be devoted next year to home economics, with the rest going to food research.

The World Today— Sen. Bricker Is Trying Again

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—People with a desire to change things or let them alone—in this case the United States Constitution and the United Nations Charter—have plenty of chance in 1955 to let off steam. In the end, probably neither document will be changed. Once more Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) urges the Constitution be amended to limit a President's treaty-making power. Under the Constitution as it stands the Senate can block any treaty made by a president.

Nevertheless Bricker and his followers argue that somehow, someday, a treaty which gets by the Senate will do grave damage by taking away American rights, particularly states' rights. Many Senate committee hearings on Bricker's proposal have been held in the past. Last year the Senate was tied in knots for weeks with debate on an amendment. Bricker has a lot of support.

He also has a lot of opposition, particularly from President Eisenhower. Last year Bricker's rigid ideas were melted down into a mild substitute amendment offered by Sen. George (D-Ga.).

In the Senate vote even this was defeated but by a narrow squeak. The vote was 60-31, one vote less than needed to approve it. Any constitutional amendment requires a two-thirds vote of Senate and House plus approval by three-fourths of the states. So even if it had squeezed through the Senate it might have been defeated elsewhere.

Bricker does not give up easily. He's back again, demanding another vote this year. A Senate subcommittee begins hearings on his proposal this week. But Bricker's chances look poorer this year than last.

In the fall of 1955 the United Nations will decide whether to hold a conference on changing its charter which by then will be 10 years old. This government favors such a conference. But, if it is held, any one of these five countries—The United States, Russia, Britain, France, Nationalist China—could kill with a veto any or all changes it didn't like.

Since the United States and Russia are so far apart in their thinking on how the U.N. should be used or should operate, any changes both agreed on almost certainly would be minor and not basic. Nevertheless the State Department and the Senate, looking forward to the possibility of a conference, have been studying ideas and proposals for charter revisions.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY
Copyright 1954 by Will Henry. Used by arrangement with Random House, Inc. Distributed by NEA Service.

THE STORY: Already Jesse James and his band of desperadoes has begun sacking banks in Missouri, but no warrant has been issued for Jesse or Frank James, or their pal Cole Younger.

XIII
FOUNDED in 1850 by Allan Pinkerton, the Pinkerton Agency has been aptly described as the "civilian Federal Bureau of Investigation" of the 1880's. Pinkerton had been head of the Northern Secret Service during the War between the States. He was a man of known tenacity and absolute integrity. His services and those of his grim organization, under the competent leadership of his son, William Pinkerton, were now called down upon the head of Jesse James by the panicky members of the Missouri Bankers Association.

The entrance of the Pinkertons was made in 1867, directly after the Richmond robbery. The event marked the ending of an era for Jesse. The pressure the Pinkertons put upon "poor Jesse" was for no single moment relaxed in the 15 long years to come.

The saga of the Pinkerton Agency in its trailing of Jesse James must, however, remain for another story. If we are to ride with him we cannot at the same time gallop with them. The simple truth is, relentless pressure or no, brilliant effort or otherwise, they never caught up to him. He rode too fast.

Nimrod Long was well pleased with the day and date—March 20, 1868. The confounded war was three years over, reconstruction was shaping up nicely in southwestern Kentucky. Particularly so in the guerrilla-torn county of Logan and the up and coming city of Russellville. The books of the financial house of Long & Norton were in their best balance since Appomattox.

He glanced up to see six strangers ride up in front of the bank. Two of the newcomers at once dismounted and started for the building's entrance. The first of these was a strikingly handsome man of well over six feet, his companion a smaller fellow of rather mean appearance. Both were well dressed and—at once apparent to the eye of a Kentuckian—both superbly mounted on blood horses.

"Good morning, Mr. Long, sir. My name is Colburn, Henderson Colburn, sir. From Louisville way."

"A good morning indeed, Mr. Colburn," smiled Nimrod Long. "May we assist you in any way, sir?"

"As a matter of fact, you may, sir," answered the other, producing a $100 bill. "I am a cattle buyer and have just delivered a small herd in Nashville. I should like this bill changed so that I may pay off one of my hands, uh, Mr. Woodson, here."

WOODSON was an uncommonly ugly fellow, short, pale, high-foreheaded. His eyes were red-rimmed and granulated, as though from some chronic infection—an infection which no doubt accounted for the continual squinting blink with which he surveyed the interior planning of Long & Norton's house of business. Completing his distasteful men, a two-week's growth of sandy-brown whiskers overlaid his narrow jaw. It was clear Mr. Woodson was beginning the losing struggle of raising a beard to compensate for the handicaps of nature.

Nimrod could not be blamed for his failure to understand that he was looking at the origins of that "dark-sandy" beard which was destined to become the hallmark of the king of all highway-men.

"Mr. Colburn, sir," he observed suspiciously examining the proffered greenback, "I'm sorry to say that this bill is counterfeit."

Nimrod Long's suspicions came a spade late in the afternoon. Nevertheless, Mr. Colburn's courtesy held faultlessly. "Well now, sir," the big cattleman agreed, "I reckon that bill is counterfeit, just like you say. But I do believe I have something here which isn't." He was still smiling apologetically when he reached inside his coat and produced the real article.

Banker Long appraised the authenticity of the Single Action, decided forthwith that it was genuine. As were, he concluded, its two counterparts now occupying the nervous hands of Mr. Woodson.

But Nimrod Long was six feet tall. Brave as a badgered bear, Wiry as a Logan County wildcat.

He got a bony knee into Jesse's groin, sprang away from him, leaped for the alleyway behind the bank. Doubled over with the blinding pain of his injury, Jesse staggered after him. He was in perfect time to get in the way of Cole's aim, and the banker was safely away down the alley, broadcasting the facts of financial life in Russellville at the top of his lungs. "They're holding up the bank! Hurry up, everybody, they're holding up the bank!"

Inside the building, the indestructible Cole grinned at Jesse. "Well now, Ding, I reckon we darsent let Mr. Long down. He's advertising a holdup and I allow we're beholden to furnish him one."

THE vault—pure luck of the profession—was open. Under the practiced sweep of Cole's hand, better than $5000 in greenbacks and bagged coins went into the wheatsack. Outside the vault, similar luck was Jesse's. The cash drawer added $9000 in currency to the sack's treasure.

The combined loot was so heavy it required the efforts of both Cole and Jesse to drag it across the bank floor and out to the horses and the waiting confederates. By the time mount-up was made, they were in trouble.

They broke through the hail of squirrel fire and shotgun fire

Dr. Jordan Says— No Single Diet Will Prevent Hardening of The Arteries

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Each year a great many people develop some symptoms resulting from hardening of the arteries and either they or their relatives become extremely anxious to learn something about what is going on. Perhaps the first question which comes to mind is whether hardening of the arteries or arteriosclerosis is becoming more common.

Probably it is, but this is most likely because fewer people die young from such diseases as pneumonia, diphtheria or typhoid and therefore reach an age when the walls of the arteries have become somewhat hardened and may be producing symptoms.

The process of the arteries becoming less elastic starts early in life, but it is unusual to have symptoms from this change until the middle or later years. Just what symptoms will be caused from arteriosclerosis depends on which arteries are affected (since the process does not develop evenly in all of them), and to what degree the blood flow is lessened by the deposits of calcium or fatty substances in the walls of the arteries.

The increased hardness of the arteries which lessens the flow of blood is likely to be so gradual that there is no way of detecting it until it has been developing a long time. For example, the walls of the arteries in the legs may become thick, hard, and inelastic while those supplying the abdominal organs of the arms are still normal and soft.

Deposits of calcium in the walls of the blood vessels is the principal thing responsible for hardening of the arteries. Why calcium should be deposited in the arteries, why it should be deposited in the small blood vessels on her foot, and then she scolded him for getting on her sore corn. That evening the family was out car riding when the youngster accidentally moved his foot over against hers. Quick as a flash he looked up at her and took his foot away. "I didn't mean to step on your bean" he said. — H. L.

Now along came April and a sale. The ring she liked so much was marked down — so right now she bought it for her husband for Christmas — but she just couldn't wait until Christmas, and now he is proudly wearing his Christmas gift — but next Christmas he will have to be content with just a card. When Old Santa starts his yearly trip that is one sock he is going to pass up, because after all you can't have Christmas in April and December, too. — H. L. ed faster in some arteries than in others, no one yet knows.

Deposits of calcium are apt to come earlier in the members of some families than in others. Perhaps also the ordinary wear and tear of living plays a part in the speed with which the arteries become sclerotic or hardened. Overeating, disturbances of hormone secretion, certain diseases of the kidney, chronic infections, have also been blamed.

The treatment of hardening of the arteries depends on which blood vessels are involved and how seriously they are affected. There is no single diet or vitamin which will prevent hardening of the arteries or any which will dissolve out calcium deposits already formed. Perpetual youth cannot be retained and therefore a person with arteriosclerosis must learn to live with his arteries as comfortably as possible.

CHURCHILL: A Man and an Era

Precautions Needed For Metal Roofs

Carl N. Scheneman
Extension Agricultural Engineer

Galvanized roofing should be painted as soon as the zinc coating begins to break down and before the roofing rusts very much. When the original color fades and dark spots appear, the zinc coating has begun to fail. Painting at this stage takes less labor and less paint. For paint to stick well and for maximum coverage it should be put on in warm weather.

The first step in painting a metal roof is to remove all rust and dirt by sweeping the roof with a heavy broom. If the roof is extremely rusty a wire brush may be used to remove rust particles and scales.

Metallic zinc paint is one of the most durable paints for galvanized roofing. It has good rust preventive qualities and weathers well. It is a mixture of 80 per cent zinc and 20 per cent zinc oxide mixed with linseed or soybean oil. Metallic zinc paint is battleship gray and weighs 23 pounds to a gallon. One coat of metallic zinc paint can be expected to protect the roof 5 to 8 years against any rust. Tests indicate that this protection will be more than doubled if a second coat is applied within 4 years after the first. Zinc paint is an excellent primer where other paints are put on as finish coats.

Iron oxide paint, the common red barn paint, gives fair service if it contains at least 40 per cent iron oxide. Always buy the best grade of this paint.

Aluminum paint is widely used on metal. However, it is not recommended as a first coat over rusted iron or steel since it soon breaks down under such conditions. If you use aluminum paint always apply a primer coat such as red lead, blue lead, iron oxide, or zinc chromate.

Black asphalt type paints are less expensive per gallon but have the lowest coverage of any commonly used paint. Their main value is to seal small holes or breaks in old roofs. Do not apply other paints on roofs where asphalt paint has been used previously. The oils in the asphalt bleed through and discolor your new paint.

Remember that tests show metallic zinc paint to be one of the most durable paints for rusty metal roofs.

Improper storage of new galvanized sheets can hasten rusting and cause permanent damage. In fact, just one week of careless handling may cause as much deterioration as a full year of use as roofing. Never pile sheets flat in tight bundles as they will sweat because of temperature changes. For proper storage, place sheets on end in a dry building and open bundles to separate sheets so that surfaces will be exposed to air. Tightening a roof by reroofing helps stop leaks. The screw type or ring shank nail with lead head has more holding power than common galvanized nails.

Beef Cattle Natural To Use Up Roughage From Rotation Crops

Beef cattle are a natural for using much of the roughage grown in a rotation cropping system. But a speaker at Spring Livestock Day held recently at the University of Missouri emphasized that in planning a livestock program, the available feed supply is the first thing to be considered.

He said a cattle program should be set up to make the best use of the available feed supply. Too often the reverse of this is true, the farmer buys some cattle and then tries to raise or buy enough feed to feed them.

The speaker also emphasized the importance of quality in cattle to be used in pasture and roughage programs. Grain feeding will smooth out plain cattle to some extent, but roughage and pasture only makes them plainer and rougher. Bred in natural thickness and beefiness combined with good doing ability will help overcome this objection to roughage and pasture.

Insect Situation Letter--

Entomologists Give Report Weekly On Insect Dangers

This is the first of the insect situation letters which will be sent out weekly throughout the summer.

We are finding some clover leaf weevils in legumes throughout the state. It is the weevil larvae, a small, light green grub with a white stripe down the back, that causes the damage at this time of year.

Each individual field should be considered separately. Check carefully for the grubs hiding down in the crowns of the plants. If you find an average of 6 or more healthy grubs per crown, you are about on the breaking point between spraying and not spraying.

Actually the weather will probably determine whether or not damage becomes severe. If the spring is dry, and particularly dry and cool, there is every possibility of considerable damage.

During wet weather, a fungus disease gets started in the grubs, and when once started during favorable weather, it can knock out large numbers of them in a relatively short time. We are already finding some infected grubs. You can easily recognize those that are diseased since they become discolored. They start turning a light gray at the back end, and as the disease becomes more advanced, the discoloration gradually spreads along the body to the head. In making the counts to decide whether or not to spray, do not count those grubs that are definitely diseased.

If control does become necessary, use toxaphene at 1½ pounds per acre, or DDT at 1 pound per acre.

The biggest threat to the state at the present time is the clay-backed cutworm. We are finding these worms scattered over the entire state, and there seems little possibility that we can avoid the necessity of spraying at least some fields. Alfalfa and clovers seem to be most heavily infested, but some worms are being found in other legumes and grasses. Most of the worms we have been finding have another two weeks or so to feed.

The heavy damage will come during these last days of feeding. At this time of year, we cannot expect much help from parasites or disease, so that leaves nothing but spraying on these fields that have large numbers of worms.

Check fields carefully, and where 4 to 5 worms per square yard are found, we believe spraying is in order. Use toxaphene at two pounds, or dieldrin at 4 ounces to the acre. These dosages, incidentally, will also control clover leaf weevils in any legume field that is sprayed.

We have had several questions about where these worms came from. This is not a spring generation. The eggs were laid and hatched last fall, and the partially grown worms lived through the winter. With warm weather this spring, they have again become active, and are now feeding heavily. There is at least the possibility of another generation. . . one coming from eggs laid later this spring from now. This other generation is no certainty, but it could happen. As yet, there is no armyworm outbreak in the state. We are finding some armyworms, however, but these are ones that lived through the winter here in Missouri. You will remember we had a heavy outbreak of armyworms late last summer. The moths from these worms emerged, laid their eggs, and the eggs hatched before cold weather. We have no way of knowing how many worms were killed during the winter, but we seem to have a good sprinkling of partially grown worms that were able to live through.

As near as we can tell now, it will not be necessary to spray for these overwintering armyworms.

except in rare instances. In the southern part of the state, about all that was green enough to interest the moths when laying eggs last fall was alfalfa. Consequently, in some alfalfa fields, there are one or two worms feeding in the majority of the crowns. Obviously, this seriously holds back the alfalfa growth. If you find fields in this condition, we suggest it be sprayed now to get away from a residue problem later on. But in most instances, we doubt that spraying will be needed.

As for the more normal spring generation of armyworms — the spring generation that causes our outbreaks when we have them — we have not yet found any small worms. We have been seeing armyworm moths flying during the past 10 days, and it is possible we could have some trouble later. In all probability, it will be another week or two before we find many small worms, if any, and it would be another week or so after that before much damage begins to show from this generation. We'll keep you posted on what we find.

It now looks as though, however, that there is little possibility that the worms that overwintered here will pupate, emerge, and lay eggs at the same time as the migrating moths are laying. What this means as far as damage this spring is concerned, we still can't say.

We are getting the usual reports on cutworms cutting off early set garden plants. With an unusually large number of cutworms already with us, it would be a good idea to caution folks to protect their plants this year. They can either use collars, or add insecticide to the transplanting water. Cut the bottom out of paper cups, ice cream cartons, etc., or cut the top and bottom out of tin cans and put around the plants as soon as they are set out. Or add 1 teaspoon of 25 per cent lindane wettable powder, or 2 tablespoons of 65 per cent chlordane emulsifiable concentrate to each gallon of setting water. Either method will get the job done.

We're still expecting plenty of them this year. The first of this year's hatch we have found were picked up this week in southwestern part of the state. Only a few individuals were found, but during the next 10 days to 2 weeks, there should be a big hatch of redlegged and Mexican hoppers. The hatch on the larger kinds — the differential and the two-striped — will be about 2 weeks or so later. Now is the time to start pushing for spraying egg beds.

Boiler Prices Down, Corn Prices Expected To Hang On Steady

Now to the boiler market. Boiler prices are expected to go down as the supply of marketable birds goes up. It's estimated that average prices at the farm will be twenty-three to twenty-four cents during most of April. During the last week of April and early May, prices may go down slightly.

Time Short To Obtain Insurance

The time limitation of obtaining the all-risk crop insurance protection for the 1955 corn crop is near. The deadline to obtain this government insurance is Saturday, April 30.

The crop insurance is protection offered under the direction of the U.S. Department of Agriculture against all production risk and is a non-profit program designed to give farmers basic protection at low cost.

Progressive corn insurance coverage closely following the cost of major tillage operation is available to both the farm operators and farm owners in this county. Pettis County only recently was added to 20 other counties throughout the United States by the Department of Agriculture for this protection and is one of six in Missouri.

Albert Newman, 209½ South Ohio, is the local agent for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. Newman stated reports on conditions for a favorable crop at this time look unfavorable. At the present time insects and a prospective grasshopper damage is expected to be as bad if not worse than in 1954.

For further information Newman can be contacted at the FCIC on South Ohio and by phoning 2832. It was through the efforts of United States Senators Thomas C. Hennings, and Stuart Symington along with Congressman Morgan M. Moulder, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation program was secured for Pettis County.

Methods Listed For Controlling Vegetable Loss

Diseases often cause a considerable loss in vegetable gardens. To help protect your garden against diseases, a University of Missouri extension horticulturist suggests you follow these practices. First, select varieties which are disease resistant. Two of the serious garden diseases in Missouri — fusarium wilt of tomatoes and yellows of cabbage — can be controlled by using disease resistant varieties. Another good practice is to buy only disease-free seed from reputable seed dealers. The horticulturist says you will find it pays to buy certified seed or seed which has received special treatment to control diseases.

Be sure to treat your seed with a seed protectant if the dealer has not already done so. Several good seed protectants are available on the market at a small cost.

Then the horticulturist says it's a good idea to use a fungicide regularly in your garden to help control foliage diseases. This is especially needed in a wet season. Good insect control will also help prevent the spread of disease in your garden. And finally, you will need to pull up and burn diseased plants.

Remember, try to prevent disease in your garden because once it's there, it's too late to do anything.

GOOD FARMING

in Pettis County
By MERLE VAUGHAN
County Extension Agent

The two pasture tours Friday gave folks an opportunity to see orchard grass, fescue and alfalfa in action. The orchard grass at Gris Raines and Gale VanSlykes had grown considerably since we saw it when planning the tour. There was a lot of lespezeia in that at Raines. Bill Murphy, extension field crop specialist, mentioned that the open growth habit of orchard grass made it an ideal host for lespezeia as a companion crop.

Mr. VanSlyke had mentioned a poorer hay yield where less nitrogen was applied at seeding time. The reason was obvious when we compared the two areas during the tour. The area receiving 60 pounds of nitrogen at seeding time had fully twice as good a stand as the part that received only 30 pounds per acre.

A question came up at Raines about the feeding value of orchard grass. Mr. Raines said it was about the same as timothy for him.

Clover Coming in Fescue
John Short said he had seeded his 90 acres of fescue in two different years, part in 1950 and the rest in 1951. Of course the 1951 seeding was the best and still had a good stand. Ladino clover had been seeded with it and a lot of little volunteer clover could be seen coming up the day of the tour.

Mr. Short had had calves on the fescue during the winter and then about April 5 he put 75 cows and their calves on the 90 acres. He left them there two weeks and then moved them four days before the tour. He expected to leave them off about two weeks and then come back.

Bill Murphy said one of the advantages of fescue was that you could get on to it in the spring about ten days before small grains or other grass. He added that it did not work as well as orchard grass as a host for lespezeia because it made more of a sod.

Fescue Reseeding At Walkups
After looking at an old stand of fescue at Charlie Walkup's he took us down the road to another field which he had reseeded last fall. He had disced it up, mixed fescue with barley and drilled the two together. He had also added some timothy and appeared to have a good stand of both in the barley. It was interesting that the discing had not hurt much of the old partial stand of fescue and clumps of it were growing luxuriously between the barley rows.

Mr. Norvi Wilkerson had just turned about 60 head of cattle on his 18 acres of fescue and it looked like they would have good grazing for a while. He suggested the group step across the fence and see an old pasture that his neighbor Chester Feaster had also seeded in fescue the fall of 1953. It had been

Chickens Improved For Future Eating With a Sex Hormone

Here's an idea for some mighty fine eating. Extension poultry specialists at the University of Missouri recommend that you treat young chickens that you're going to put in your freezer or locker with a sex hormone. Meat of birds treated with this sex hormone is juicy and tender, and it approaches the quality of a true capon. Birds treated this way are usually called "caponettes". Even old roosters make good eating when treated with this hormone.

This hormone, called diethylstilbestrol, comes in liquid, paste, or pellet form, and is implanted under the skin of the bird's neck with a special injector. Cockerels and pullets are usually treated at six to eight weeks of age. Older roosters may be treated any time. Since the effect of the hormone lasts six to eight weeks, it is essential that the birds be killed and dressed within that period of time after treatment. Costs vary from one to three cents a bird, a small charge for the benefits received in the tenderized meat.

Builds a Fire

UNION, S.C. (AP)—Sheriff Clyde Bolden was driving a 14-year-old girl to a state industrial school when she casually asked for a cigaret and match. Just as casually, she set fire to the car seat. While the sheriff was putting out the fire, the girl fled into the woods.

A recent study indicates that one in 33 U.S. high school students marries while still in school.

Hawks Shift To St. Louis Is Promising

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Basketball enthusiasts here are planning a ticket drive to meet conditions set by Ben Kerner, Milwaukee Hawks owner, for a proposed transfer of the club's National Basketball Association franchise to St. Louis.

Kerner made the first step Saturday when he found he could get "pretty much" what he wants in 24 home playing dates next season at the 11,000-seat Kiel (Municipal) Auditorium.

The next two moves—a guaranteed advance sale of 1,000 season tickets and a revenue-producing radio contract—are up to St. Louis, Kerner said.

Kerner set May 2, a week from today, as a deadline for these conditions, "because the NBA has a schedule meeting May 4 in New York and all the other teams, who have their dates in, will be waiting on me."

Leaders of the drive here protested the time given them was too short.

But Maurice Podoloff, NBA president who flew here from New York, indicated if St. Louis fans show enough interest the prospects are good for a shift.

"I feel that in 10 days the people here will know whether they can handle the conditions," Podoloff said.

He conceded it would be "impossible to meet them completely," by May 2.

When Kerner found he couldn't get the February-March home dates he wanted, he announced April 16 he definitely would transfer the club out of Milwaukee.

St. Louis had to give up its last previous pro basketball franchise in 1950 but Kerner says the situation is different now. He declared the game has built a larger following, largely through television.

Castellani Has Odds to Batter Cuba's Varona

NEW YORK (AP)—Rocky Castellani, aiming for another title shot at middleweight champion Bobo Olson, is a 2-1 favorite to beat Cuba's Chico Varona in a televised 10-rounder (Dumont-TV, 8 p.m. CSA) at New York's St. Nicholas arena tonight.

The 27-year-old ex-marine from Cleveland, now ranked as the third contender, has won two straight since he was outpointed by Olson last Aug. 20.

Varona, once a high-ranking welterweight contender, is making his first start of the year in the states. His record is 57-17. Castellani's record is 58-6-2.

A featherweight scrap between Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles and flashy Lulu Perez of Brooklyn also will be telecast tonight (ABC-TV, 8 p.m., CST) from Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway arena. Garcia, No. 6 126-pounder, is an 8-5 favorite over the local scrapper.

Ezzard Charles, a familiar face to TV fans, takes on hard-hitting, china-chinned John Holman of Chicago in a video 10-rounder (CBS-TV, 8 p.m. CST) Wednesday night at the Miami Beach auditorium. Charles is after his third straight win while Holman is seeking his fourth successive triumph.

Charles, 33-year-old ex-heavyweight champ, is a 3-1 choice. The records: Charles 88-12-1; Holman 20-10-1.

Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., is a 2-1 favorite over Italy's Paolo Melis in the Friday night radio-TV fight (NBC-TV, radio) coming this week from Syracuse, N.Y.

The 23-year-old Vejar has an unbeaten streak of nine, made of eight wins and one draw. Melis, 25, has copped four in a row. Vejar's record is 60-4-1, Melis' 33-7-2.

Trabert Smashes Out Early Lead to Take River Oaks Tourney

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The amateur tennis troupe scattered today as powerful Tony Trabert hung up his ninth straight trophy with the championship of the River Oaks Tournament.

Trabert, the man with the big game from Cincinnati, bounced Vic Seixas, the national champion from Philadelphia, for the seventh consecutive time yesterday. He beat him 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

The last time Tony lost a match was Feb. 1 when he fell before Ken Rosewell in the Australian National Tournament. He never gave Seixas, his Davis Cup teammate, a chance yesterday, winning the first 11 games and coasting in.

William Carlin of St. Louis and Grady Beckham of Joplin tied for first place in the class B tournament. Robert Schmidt of Carthage finished third in this event and C. Hart of Springfield was fourth.

Sports Roundup—

Attendance Drops But Club Owners Have Other Security

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Great alarm already is being voiced in some quarters over the drastic dropoff in big league attendance. It has, indeed, been a disturbing feature of the new season. But note that there have been no howls of anguish to speak of from the club owners, the men who should be most concerned.

The truth is that, through the golden harvest from television and radio, the majors year after year are approaching closer to semi-independence of the fan who only a short time ago supported them totally by the dollars he left at the turnstile. The fan still is picking up the tab, all right, but he's doing it at the drugstore counter and in the corner delicatessen.

A live audience of only 3,874 showed up at Ebbets Field on a recent day to watch Robin Roberts, the game's greatest pitcher, try to stop the Brooklyn Dodgers short of Game of the Week, which goes into and damages only minor league territory, has added an important sum to the big league pool for the past two seasons.

That's more than half the 304,666 total drawn by the same Athletics in 72 games at Philadelphia all last season.

Chances are excellent that Kansas City will beat the Philadelphia season figure by the time the Athletics complete their present home stand May 4.

Off today, the Athletics will meet Boston tomorrow night and Wednesday afternoon and then take on the New York Yankees Thursday and Friday nights. They wind up the stay against Washington Sunday and Monday night and Baltimore Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

The A's front office said capacity crowds of more than 32,000 are expected for each of the Yankee tilts.

The fact manager Lou Boudreau's A's have lost 7 of their first 10 games has failed to dampen the enthusiasm of fans. The A's came home from their first road trip smarting under a 16-0 loss to Detroit April 17. Next night they drew 31,563 with Cleveland.

Saturday, Chicago humiliated the Athletics 29-6 before 18,338. Yesterday 19,446 braved miserable baseball weather to cheer lefty Alex Kellner and his mates in a fine comeback against the Sox.

That's more than half the 304,666 total drawn by the same Athletics in 72 games at Philadelphia all last season.

A's Shuout White Sox 5-0; Rain Halts Other Contests

By JACK HAND

The Associated Press

How high is up? How low is down? Ask the Chicago White Sox. Manager Marty Marion's hearty crew climbed the highest mountain and probed the deepest sea over the weekend.

Saturday they trounced Kansas City 29-6. Then yesterday they absorbed a 5-0 shutout from the same team.

Take a look at some of the other things that happened yesterday:

1. Pittsburgh finally won its first game at Philadelphia, 6-1, after losing eight in a row. The Sunday curfew turned the second game into a suspended game with the Phillies leading 2-0 in the eighth.

2. The New York Giants scored six runs in the 10th inning but barely managed to hold the fort as Brooklyn bounced back with five runs in an 11-10 thriller.

3. Willard Nixon, the old Yankee killer, beat the New York Yankees for the sixth straight time, allowing only two singles in a 1-0 Boston Red Sox victory.

4. Sad Sam Jones, always a sore-armed disappointment at Cleveland, pitched a two-hitter against Cincinnati for a 2-1 edge and his second victory for the Chicago Cubs. A scheduled second game was rained out in the third.

5. Saul Rogovin, another sore-armed pitcher who was shunted to the minors last year, went the route for Baltimore to top Washington in 10 innings of the first game 2-1. Washington took the second 5-2.

6. Rookie Frank Lary of Detroit found his first big league victims in the Cleveland Indians. Lary allowed eight hits while the Tigers hung a first defeat on Herb Score, the Indians' rookie hotshot, 6-4.

Alex Kellner was the fellow who plunked the White Sox from 29 runs to zero by allowing only five singles. The husky left-hander was the first Kansas City pitcher to go the route this season. Gus Zernial's three hits helped hang the defeat on Dick Donovan.

Nixon's second successive shutout was a real class job at Yankee Stadium. Singles by Bill Skowron and Eddie Lopat were the only New York hits. Lopat lost it in the ninth when Faye Throneberry singled, took second on an infield out and scored when Norm Zauchin's single dropped in front of Hank Bauer.

The Giants and Dodgers staged another massive tug-of-war at Ebbets Field before the Brooks finally lost their second game in 13 starts. Despite two homers by Willie Mays, his first of the season, Brooklyn took a 5-3 lead into the ninth, when Al Dark's two-run homer tied the score.

Ray Katt's first hit of the year, a three-run homer, started the Giants' six-run spurt in the 10th. Then Brooklyn hammered back with five. At the end, the Dodgers had men on first and second when Ruben Gomez, the seventh New York pitcher, finally got Carl Furillo on a foul fly.

St. Louis and Milwaukee never did get started in their scheduled single game because of rain. Cincinnati and Chicago got in one game but had to call off the second with the Cubs in front 3-0 in the Chicago half of the third.

All teams had an open date today.

Chandler Harper Plans to Enter Circuit Shortly

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Stylist Chandler Harper, of Portsmouth, Va., said today he's going to take another crack at the professional golf tournament circuit as a result of his victory here yesterday in the third annual $17,500 Virginia Beach Open.

"I'll join the circuit at Fort Worth, Tex., two weeks from now," said the 41-year-old Harper.

Harper picked up $2,400 by putting together rounds of 66-65-65-64 for a tournament record of 260. The former record of 262 was set in 1953 by Doug Ford, of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y.

Harper's spectacular iron shots and his putting gave him the victory over the 6,065-yard, par-69 Cavalier Yacht and Country Club course.

Second place went to Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., who finished with a 65 for a 72-hole total of 264. Mayer collected $1,800. Ed (Porky) Oliver, Lemont, Ill., was third with 265 and made $1,400.

Tied for fourth were Ed Furgol, National Open champion from St. Louis, and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., who carved 266s and took home $1,100 each. Next came Jack Burke Jr., Kiamasha Lake, who won $800 with 167. Jerry Barber, of Los Angeles, and Johnny Palmer, of Charlotte, N. C., came up with 269s to tie for seventh, good for $650 each.

Betsy Rawls Triumph Great Morale Victory

CARROLLTON, Ga. (AP)—Betsy Rawls could hardly have picked a better time to snap out of her slump and win a golf tournament.

Her three-stroke triumph over Patty Berg in the $5,000 Carrollton women's open gave her morale a big boost as she and the other touring professionals headed for Betsy's home town of Spartanburg, S. C., and the Peach Blossom Open.

Miss Rawls took a 77 in yesterday's final round for a 54-hole total of 218—one stroke over the record winning score for this tournament.

Miss Berg, the St. Andrews, Ill., shotmaker, had trailed Miss Rawls by four strokes after each of the first two rounds, but carded a 221 total.

Alice Bauer Hagge of Sarasota, Fla., with her sister, Marlene Bauer, and Jackie Pung of Honolulu tied for third at 227.

Miss Rawls' victory was worth $1,000 and Miss Berg collected $700. The trio tied for third got $508.33 each.

Marilynn Smith of Wichita wound up with a 232, good for $137.

Dark Confident Dodgers Victory Spree Will End

BROOKLYN (AP)—Captain Alvin Dark, hero of New York's 11-10 victory over Brooklyn yesterday, declared today that two teams—the Giants and the Milwaukee Braves—were superior to the league-leading Dodgers.

The sparkplug of the world champions admitted the Giants face a battle to overhaul the Dodgers, who have won 11 out of 13 games. He insisted, however, that by August not only New York but probably Milwaukee will be ahead of Brooklyn.

"I know the standings give the Dodgers a big advantage over us right now," he said. "But I still maintain we're a better ball club than Brooklyn. So is Milwaukee. I don't want to say how we will fare against Brooklyn over the season, but I believe Milwaukee will beat the Dodgers at least 13 times this year."

The shortstop called attention to the Dodgers' aging and heavily-built athletes, particularly Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella, who weigh in the neighborhood of 215 pounds each.

"Hot weather bothers big heavy fellows much more than it does a slender man," Dark said. "Let's wait and see how fellows like Robinson, Campanella and Don Newcombe do in July and August. Let's see also how Brooklyn's pitching will shape up when those double-headers roll around."

Dark's victory spree will end today when the Dodgers play the Braves at Ebbets Field.

Plieffer's Beer team of Detroit seems secure in first place with 3,136. Other leaders are Eddie Gerzine of Milwaukee in singles with 738; H. Zoeller and G. Pacropis of Wiles-Barre, Pa., in doubles with 1,365 and Fred Bujack of Detroit in all-events with 1,903.

Accidents

The left front fender on a 1946 Chevrolet sedan was damaged about 4:27 p.m. Sunday when the car crashed into a light pole on the southwest corner of 11th and Carr.

The car was driven by Charles L. Davis, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, 1501 West 20th. The youth was turned over to his father after being questioned by Cecil Glenn, juvenile officer.

Damage resulted to two automobiles which were in collision at Broadway and Engineer about 9:03 a.m. Sunday. Occupants of the cars were not injured.

Involved were a 1953 Dodge sedan driven by Frank S. Pittenger, of Muskegon, Mich., and a 1949 Ford sedan driven by Rudolph J. Hemsoth, of Kansas City. Both automobiles were headed west on Broadway.

Pittenger stopped for a red light and Hemsoth reported a fly had gotten in his car on the windshield and he tried to knock it out and didn't see the car stop ahead of him. The trunk lid, rear bumper and body on the Dodge was damaged and the grill, front bumper and left headlight damaged on the Ford.

Police Reports

A window at the Bryant Motor Co., Second and Kentucky, was found open by the police about 10:24 p.m. Saturday. The manager was notified and locked the window.

An awning crank belonging to the Safeway Store was stolen Saturday night but was found Sunday near the National Guard Armory.

Mrs. Francis Randa of the Randa Cafe, 115 East Third, reported the theft of five of her business pay checks, serial numbers 997 to 1002. Four of the checks have been filled out for cash for $48 each.

The man who is believed to have stolen the checks and passed them is described as having black wavy hair, dark brown eyes and medium complexion.

A back door to the Mike O'Connor Chevrolet Buick garage, Fourth and Kentucky, was found open by the police at 11:40 p.m. Sunday. The owner was notified and locked the door. Nothing appeared to have been disturbed in the garage.

Knife and Fork To Hear Famous Journalist Talk

Don Bolt, a newspaper man who was in Guatemala and who witnessed the revolution from beginning to end, will be the guest speaker to address members of the Knife and Fork Club at the meeting Monday evening at the Bothwell Hotel.

Bolt, a former NBC commentator and newspaper man of long experience, "scooped the world" on the armistice and stayed to witness the triumphal march into the city of Castello Arma's men.

After conveying the Guatemalan event, Bolt visited Mexico where, it has been reported, the Comies have started their propaganda machine and are making progress. Bolt's address here will combine his observations in Mexico with his story of the Guatemalan incident.

Limit, appeared in police court and was fined $15. He pleaded guilty.

Five overtime parkers failed to appear in police court and their $1 cash bonds were ordered forfeited.

Final Concert - Twentieth Season SEDALIA SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Abe Rosenthal, Conductor

Smith-Cotton High School Auditorium

TUESDAY NIGHT, APRIL 26 - 8:15 O'CLOCK

The Sedalia Symphony Orchestra is composed this season, as in the past, of talented musicians of Sedalia, Warrensburg, the Sedalia Air Force Base and Marshall.

Guest Artist-

PAULINE DENISTON

Soprano

"Beauty with A Song"

Pretty blond Pauline Deniston began her musical career with the role of Adele in "Die Fledermaus", which led to radio and TV, with her own hour on Channel 4. Her Philharmonic appearance in a Pop Concert, with Hans Schwiager conducting, drew a capacity audience at Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium, with 1000 people turned away. A leading role at Starlight Theatre has led to many concert and high opera engagements throughout the Midwest area, including St. Louis, Springfield, Pittsburg, Fort Scott, Topeka, Wichita, Salina, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Lincoln, Nebraska.

She appeared with the Sedalia Symphony two years ago and this marks the first repeat performance of any guest artist.

German State Gives Adenauer Sharp Rebuff

HANNOVER, Germany (AP)—Final returns today from legislative elections here in West Germany's third largest state handed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-American foreign policy a sharp rebuff.

The antiarmament Socialists, who have governed the state of Lower Saxony since the war, ran far ahead of Adenauer's Christian Democrats in voting yesterday for a new 161-member state parliament.

The Socialists polled 1,182,066 votes (35.2 per cent of the total) to elect 59 deputies, while the Christian Democrats won 43 seats with a total vote of 893,917. Six other parties won seats: The right-wing German party (DP) 20; the Refugee party (BHE) 18; Free Democrats (FDP) 12; Nazi-like German Reichs party, 12; Communists 2; and Centrist party 1.

Despite the prestige defeat for Adenauer, the lack of a Socialist majority raised the possibility that

Rotarians Clean Up

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was spring cleaning for 60 Rotary Club members and 10 of their wives yesterday. The group, with shovels and brooms, swept 10 miles of streets and alleys in East Los Angeles. More than 20 big truckloads of trash, papers and weeds were hauled away.

Air Force Concerned Over Auto Accidents Involving Personnel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has expressed "serious concern" about accidents—auto accidents.

In a report to a House Appropriations subcommittee, released today, the Air Force said its men have about five times as many auto accidents as airplane accidents.

In 1954 there were 757 fatalities from airplane accidents and 608 from auto crashes. But 5,324 military personnel were injured in auto accidents, compared with 529 in planes.

Altogether there were 6,460 auto accidents, 1,326 airplane crashes.

Military Food Lacks Commercial Standard

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Hoover Commission says the meals served at U.S. military bases wouldn't meet the standards of a good restaurant. In a report on government buying and handling of food and clothing, the commission said last night that the armed forces buy good quality food but fail to meet commercial standards in the way they prepare and serve it.

West Virginia Lawyer Dies; Colorful Figure In Democrat Politics

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Clarence E. Martin, 75, prominent corporation lawyer who figured in a bitter 1941 battle between Sen. Neely (D-WV) and ex-Gov. Homer Holt, died here yesterday. He had been ill four years.

He was a former president of the American Bar Assn.

Martin, a prominent West Virginia Democrat very nearly became a U.S. senator.

He was appointed in 1941 by outgoing Gov. Holt, a Democrat, to the Senate vacancy created by the resignation of Neely. Neely, also a Democrat, had just waged a successful campaign to succeed Holt as governor.

But Neely claimed Holt had usurped his authority to appoint someone to the Senate vacancy. He named the late Joseph Rosier of Fairmont, and when a vote was taken in the Senate as to which to seat, Rosier won by two votes.

AF Security Tightens Up Says Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new report to Congress showed today a multi-fold stepup in the Air Force's personnel security program over the past two years.

The report, given to a House Appropriations subcommittee during budget hearings and made public today, disclosed:

1. The Air Force filed security risk cases against 260 uniformed personnel in 1953 and 1954. In the two years before that, in 1951 and 1952, it handled only 15 such cases.

2. In the past two years, the Air Force discharged 37 officers or airmen on security grounds. In the two preceding years, it made no such discharges.

3. In 1953-54, in addition to the outright security discharges, 164 Air Force men resigned or were discharged on other technical grounds prior to settlement of their security cases. For the 1951-52 period, there were only 15 such cases.

4. Over the past two years, 59 military men were cleared after security charges had been filed by the Air Force. There were no such actions in 1951-52.

5. In the first two months of this year, 16 security cases were disposed of—more than during all of 1951 and 1952. In these 1955 cases, 6 were discharged, 1 was cleared and 9 were separated from the service prior to completion of their security cases.

These figures were given Congress March 24, after some questioning by committee members, by Maj. Gen. J. F. Carroll, director of special investigations for the Air Force.

Carroll said none of those discharged were spies or saboteurs.

Japanese Ask Talks With Russia on Peace

TOKYO (AP)—Japan told Russia today she is ready to meet with the Soviets in London for World War II peace talks. The statement was in a note from Japan's permanent observer at the United Nations to the Soviet United Nations delegate.

The note said Japan assumes the site question is settled, since Moscow has said it was agreeable to London or Geneva. No date was proposed.

Thai Prime Minister To Visit Hollywood

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Prime Minister of Thailand takes a look at Hollywood today as part of his southern California visit.

Field Marshal P. Pibulsonggram and his wife will be guests of honor at a luncheon given by movie industry leaders at Paramount Studio. Tonight they will attend a reception and dinner given by the Los Angeles World Affairs Council.

The Prime Minister, arriving with his party yesterday, said it had been his fervent desire to return visits to his country by Vice President Nixon and other American leaders.

General Advised Red China Could Triple Air Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining advised Congress in February that Red China's air force could be doubled or tripled "overnight" from Russia.

In testimony given Feb. 9 and made public today, the Air Force chief of staff said Red China's "rapidly expanding system of bases . . . gives the Communists the ability to move in aircraft rapidly from the Soviet Union."

"We cannot ignore their capability to double or triple their air strength in the Far East overnight," he told a House Appropriations subcommittee.

He did not publicly locate the new Chinese airfields nor discuss their relationship to the Formosa Strait.

Early this month, President Eisenhower, in discounting predictions of a possible Red attack on Quemoy and the Matsu Islands by April 15, said the Communists still lacked sufficient airfields and supply bases to support such an assault.

Twining testified that in the last four years the Communists "have created a whole new air force in Red China and have made it the fourth most powerful air force in the world."

Apparently the others are the United States, the Soviet Union and Great Britain.
